Image not found or type unknown

Celebrating Indonesia' Independence Day

Independence Day is the day we celebrate and look back on the people of Indonesia, who, regardless of their differences and religions, fought for the freedom and independence of our country. This day has always been filled with celebration, and this year was no exception.

To celebrate Indonesia's 77th Independence Day, a fashion show competition called Citarim Fashion Week was held this year. It was a very fun and interesting day for us at the firm and it showed that although we work long hours at the office, everyone could still bring some excitement by dressing up in costumes and having fun together during the competition.

See here for the event recap.